Supernatural - Gabriel/Michael - His feelings for his little brother are not so brotherly.

"I...return your feelings. Gabriel. I forgive you."

His face; his voice is earnest, but - Michael's eyes are dead.

Michael repeats himself, but it's not - not what Gabriel wanted it to be.

He snaps the illusion away and covers his face.

Supernatural; Lucifer/Raphael; I hate you, 'cause you're the one I love.

Lucifer kisses her with cold lips and holds her with cold hands and lets her bite him back.

Anger and hatred aren't emotions he dislikes, now, not when it means that he is inspiring something from his broken sibling, instead of nothing.

Angel Santuary/Supernatural, AS!Lucifer + SPN!Lucifer, "What do you mean with 'I don't need a vessel'?"

"What did you mean, 'I don't need a vessel'?"

"Exactly what I said. What kind of cruel God would limit you in such a way?"

"And yours is a kinder, gentler God?"

His double's face twists bitterly and Lucifer understands; nothing changes.

Supernatural - Balthazar/Dean - Dean finds Balthazar's corpse and wing imprint.

Dean can't accept his sight, not in this case. Not when Balthazar had been an ally - more, but he denies that.

He touches the ashes, swears violently, and thinks: this is why they turned their backs on Castiel, and love him not.